Schools open: all systems go

By FRANCES PAULETTE

Did you, by any chance, hear anything on Monday morning of this week? A bit like a long, slow sigh? Maybe a sigh of relief?

Could it have been mothers all over the county, giving a deep sigh after getting their children off for the first day of school?

After all, Mother, you have had her responsibility for approximately three long months, so now you are happy to hand over the care and instruction of your children to capable teachers and school administrators for most of each weekday.

Parent Volunteers were busy at the Appomattox Primary School on Monday morning meeting and greeting the young students. The volunteers offered to help the youngsters find their rooms. Many responded with "I don't need any help. I know where I am going!"

"All in all," commented one Parent Volunteer, "the students seemed to be a very mature group. In fact, I saw only pair of tear-filled eyes, and they belonged to a mother who was leaving her child at school for the first time!"

A total of 2,502 students were enrolled in all of the Appomattox County Schools as of Tuesday afternoon, according to Lloyd G. Walton, Superintendent of the Appomatox County School Division. This figure was a little below the anticipated enrollment of 2530.

"We had a really fine school beginning," said Walton. "We had a smooth opening and got off to an exceptionally good start. The instructional program got underway Tuesday and all the classes are covered."

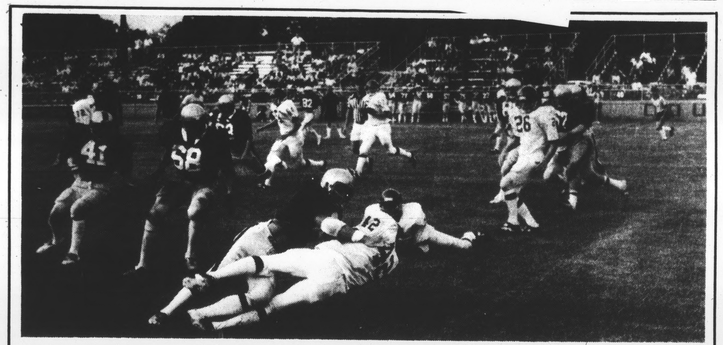
The renovation project at the Middle School is moving to completion. The new boilers will be installed in the Elementary School prior to the heating season (October).

Bids were opened Tuesday for Phase II Renovation at the Appomatox Primary and Elementary Schools.

The low bid for Phase II Renovation of Appomattox Primary School was $198,250 submitted by J. E. Sears Co. Inc.

The low bid on Phase II Renovation of the Appomattox Elementary School was $295,000 submitted by K. W. Prohel of Lynchburg.

"We, indeed, feel exceptionally good about the beginning of this school year. We are pleased that we have reached the point where we have received bids on all of the school projects. I am anticipating a good school year," concluded Walton.



Grid Season

Cooperation keeps Appomattox taxes down

By BILL SHERROD

Tax tickets for the Town of Appomattox were mailed out yesterday (Wednesday), and, according to Town Manager Bill Britton, residents will again this year see no increase in town taxes.

The tax on real estate in the Town of Appomattox is 20 cents per $100 of assessed value.

"Taxes are staying as low as they are in the town and in the county because of the cooperation between the Town Council and the County Board of Supervisors," says Britton, who also serves as special projects assistant for Appomattox County.

Britton notes that "in many counties, citizens pay for the same services twice, through their town and their county taxes.

But this situation does not exist in Appomattox, primarily because the town and the county have worked together to see that their citizens do not have to pay for the same services twice."

County taxes pay for services such as welfare and health departments, as well as schools and sheriff's department and other county functions, Britton notes.

Town taxes pay for maintenance of town owned streets, town police protection, electric street safety lights, maintenance of town property, trash pick-up and related town services, Britton says.

The fire department is funded 25 percent by the town, and 75 percent by the county, Britton adds.

"Appomattox ratea very high in the state, in terms of the amount of money spent in relation to the services rendered for that money," notes Britton.

The town and county combine forces and save money in other ways as well.

For example, the town uses the services of the county Commissioner of Revenue for a nominal fee, and the town uses the same building inspector as other parts of the county.

"The county building inspector's office is funded through a town resident's county taxes, so that resident pays nothing in his town for building inspection," Britton says.

There are many other examples of the ways in which the cooperative arrangement between the town and the county save citizens tax money.

The communications system in the Sheriff's Department is used by all of the county, including the Town of Appomattox. In addition, the Appomattox Planning Commission serves the county, as well as the towns of Appomattox and Pamplin, which results in further cost reductions to all parties involved, according to Britton.

And, where possible, the Town of Appomattox is turning over to the state the job of maintaining streets in the town which meet state standards.

Britton, who wrote an article in Virginia Town and City magazine on the subject, sums up the public funding situation in Appomattox, noting that "Cooperation is what is allowing us to save our citizens tax dollars."

Kerr to head lawyer group

W. Sam Kerr, Commonwealth's Attorney of Appomattox County, was elected President-Elect of the Virginia Association of Commonwealth's Attorneys at its annual meeting in Virginia Beach on August 7.

As President-Elect, Mr. Kerr will be responsible for monitoring issues and legislation of concern to the state's 121 Commonwealth's Attorneys, and for developing the 1983 annual meeting, at which time he will succeed the current President of the Association, Richard H. Barrick.

Mr. Kerr, who was elected Commonwealth's Attorney in 1972 after appointment to the then-vacant position, was graduated from T. C. Williams Law School of the University of Richmond in 1965.

He served three years as a captain in the US Army Judge Advocate Generals Corp.

He currently serves on Governor Robb's Criminal Justice Task Force.

Cable rates are firmed up

At Monday evening's meeting of the Appomattox Town Council, Vic Bosiger, representing Nesbe Cable/Satellite Communications, LTD, a Division of Bahakel Broadcasting, appeared before council with rates for cable television as follows:

A $10.00 hookup fee will be charged, however, former customers will not have to pay this charge. Extra sets will be hooked up at a cost of $3.00 each and extra sets hooked up at a later time will be charged $6.00. Basic service will be $6.75.

Since no fee was proposed for Home Box Office service by ARCO, Inc. Bosiger submitted the following rate structure for approval as outlined in the terms and conditions of the franchise agreement: HBO $10.50 per month for first set; additional sets $1.00 per month.

Council set Monday, September 13 at 7:30 as the date for a Public Hearing in the Appomattox Town Office concerning cable TV rates.

Comments and recommendations may be made at this time or may be submitted in writing and sent to the Town Manager.

Roll out the carpet for September. Thirty days of opportunity. Name comes from the Latin word Septum, meaning seven. When the Roman calendar was changed, it became the ninth month. Seven or nine, may it be lucky for you.

To just about wind up my garden activities for the year, gathered all the decorative gourds and varnished them for keeping. Had twenty six. Thanks to some bush hog work by R. W. Mitchell and some hauling by Billy Hopkins, my back lot is ready for inspection. Alas, it is too early to store the lawnmower.

Just met Mr. F. T. Seargent, certified land surveyor. Lives on Rt. 3, Appomattox. Every county needs a surveyor.

Football is in the air and the weatherman is cooperating. Bill Jamerson will again be an Atlantic Coast Conference official, as head linesman. And Scott Dawson, also of Appomattox, will be a Conference umpire. Both are veteran officials and have received their schedule of games to work.

Note pad item. I have not seen a snake all year. Nor do I hear of many being seen by others. Suits Me.

One of our readers was going over the society section of The Danville Register, of Aug. 8, and noted that in a wedding announcement the groom was a graduate of Slippery Rock College. Remembering that I often mention Slippery Rock, she kindly brought me the paper. Several years ago another reader brought me a Slippery Rock sweater. It is a state teachers college, near Pittsburgh.

A salute to the fine ladies who are school bus patrol officers stationed along Confederate Blvd. at the bus entrances to the Middle and Elementary schools. They are Mrs. Dorothy Cordani and Mrs. H. A. Paulette. I tip my hat each time I pass in recognition of the important assignment they perform. And a verse of Number 88 (Bring Them In) for the school bus drivers and all others serving in our school system. I drove (slowly) Monday morning by several youngsters I figured were waiting for the bus for the first time, about to experience their first day in school, meet teachers and other youngsters their age...and what they must have had to tell when finally back home at the end of the day.

More note pad items. Yard sales still going strong....there is a Wahoo, Nebraska and a Pear Blossom, Arizona....Rudyard Kipling once wrote that it was a rare man who could take winning and losing all the same....it is said that judges started the practice of wearing black robes in mourning for Queen Anne, England, who died in 1714.

Telethon set for weekend

Appomattox County's contribution to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon gets underway Sunday evening, according to County MDA Chairman, Bobbie Mullins.

Phones will be manned at the Appomattox Town Office..which is serving as the County MDA telethon Headquarters, from 9 p.m. Sunday until 1 a.m. Monday, and again from 7 a.m. Monday until 7 p.m. Monday.

During the Telethon on Monday, a variety of activities will be underway outside the Appomattox Town Office.

There will be live music, clowns, and a variety of games and fun for young and old alike, according to Mullins.

An additional activity which is being planned to benefit the MDA fund is a baseball game between two old Appomattox County teams, the Red Sox and the Green Sox. These two teams, which played in the late 1940's were comprised of Appomattox County athletes. Mayor Ronald Spiggle says an effort is underway to reunite the two teams for a game sometime after the telethon which will benefit the Appomattox County MDA fund drive.

Those wishing to make contributions to the MDA Telethon this weekend may do so by calling 352-8268 during the times when the county phones will be manned, according to Mullins.

For sale of hunting licenses

Clerk's office open Sat.

The Appomattox County Clerk's Office will be open this Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon, according to Barbara Williams, County Clerk.

The office is being opened to accomodate persons wishing to purchase hunting licenses, Williams notes.

Dove season begins in Virginia at noon on Saturday.

Festival play set

Depot Dramaties will present Neil Simon's Plaza Suite Saturday, Oct. 9, at approximately 8:30 p.m.

This production is a part of the Railroad Festival festivities and will begin after the fireworks display.

The play will be produced in the high school auditorium. Auditions for Plaza Suite will be held Sept. 9 at 7:00 p.m. There are roles for seven men and five women.
